There are still quite a few areas in India where women empowerment is largely lacking.

1. There needs to be a sea change in the mind set of the people in the country. Not just the women themselves but the man have to wake up. To a world that is moving towards equality and equity.
2. There are some government programmes and NGOs in the country there is still a wide gap that exists between those under protection and those not.
3. Poverty and Illiteracy add to these complications. The Empowerment of Women beings with a guarantee of their health and safety.
4. Empowerment of women could only be achieved if their economic and social status is improved it could be impossible by adopting definite social and economic policies with a view of total development of women and to make them realize that they have the potential to be a strong human beings.
5. Heavy household responsibilities on the rural women that's why they are not prepared for extra work load of women Entrepreneurs.

VII. SUGGESTIONS

1. The First priority should be given to the education of women and paid special attention on the special training course.
2. Awareness programme need to be organized for creating awareness among women belonging to weaker sections.
3. Women should be allowed to work and should be provided enough safety and support to work. They should be provided with proper wages and work.
4. There should be personality development courses for women empowerment.

and changing gender inequalities since the beginning of the history. Women represent half the world population and gender inequality exists in every nation on the planet. To perform below their true potential. The greatest need to our is the change of social attitude to women.
